Dear Harold,

Enclosed is a copy of the material I received from the LBJ Library that you requested.

I hope you will have some time to relax after what must have been an exhausting and frustrating final editing process of Never Again! I am looking forward to it and do plan to use it in a course next Fall. Regarding the Posner project, I am working on on getting copies of the students' evaluation. The Dean said he would send them to me, but that was over a week ago. I guess he will need a reminder. In terms of judging what students got out of it, I believe it would be best to get their own reaction rather than my evaluation which may reflect more what I hoped they got out of it.

I am about 80 pages into Waketh the Watchmen. It reads well despite the typos. And it is moving in parts. Last night I read through your analysis of that long passage from Reeves' book which concludes with JFK's observation, "And we call ourselves the human race." That remark alone speaks volumes about Kennedy.

Take care and regards to Lillian.

Best,
Gerry
